GSA AWARDS CENTRE FIVE-YEAR TRAINING CONTRACT

VIENNA, Va.—June 14, 2007—Centre Consulting increased its GSA schedule presence with its award of a Schedule 69 contract. The schedule award, for “Training Aids & Devices, Instructor-Led Training; Course Development; Test Administration—Programmed Learning Devices,” affords GSA’s federal government users easy access to the Centre Federal Contracting Institute’s top-tier acquisition, alternative dispute resolution, leadership, and human capital courses. Centre is known for providing nationally ranked trainers with legal and advanced degrees as well as its courseware developers for the design of specialized classes tailored to a customers’ unique needs. Centre is a woman-owned small business. Centre’s Federal Contracting Institute instructors combine legal case studies, lecture, and questions and answers, to create a dynamic classroom learning environment of lessons learned through 20 years of legal experience. FCI utilizes Centre-written textbooks and course materials, whose authors are available on schedule to modify existing courses or create entirely new ones.

“This award enables Centre to more readily offer our extensive FCI course curriculum to federal agencies and their personnel,” said Barbara Kinosky, President of Centre Consulting. “There remains a critical need for current, effective and comprehensive training in today’s quickly changing federal acquisition world. It is even more important now to ensure that the training acquisition and human capital professional receive is accurate and current. We very much look forward to being at the forefront of training delivery and curriculum development.”

Centre Consulting also holds a Schedule 874, “Mission Oriented Business Improvement Services,” through which it provides federal acquisition, legal consulting, facilitation and program management services to federal agencies. Centre Consulting is also currently engaged by the United States Air Force under a five year contract to provide worldwide training services and courseware development in support of the Air Force S implementation of the National Security Personnel System (NSPS) requirements.
